

Buses Yearbook 2007

Each new edition of Buses Yearbook aims to be as fresh and different in its content from the previous editions as possible. It contains a great mix of articles and photo features on a wide variety of topics, and will reflect on the major bus events of the year 2005, which brings to a close an era which began in the 19th Century. Friday 9th December, 2005 is the day when the last Routemaster ran in normal service in London.
