

Birthday Ideas & Other Humorous Stories

Birthday Ideas is a humorous short story that considers a world where birthdays are made easy by following the simple guidelines of the author and spending little time and effort on getting your gifts. For example, buying this digital book would qualify as a great birthday idea for men or women, as it takes up little or no space and it is not a pair of socks or a shirt that may need to be returned. The other short stories are funny whether talking about birthday ideas, driving for 24 hours, accidentally forgetting a spouse's birthday, black ice, hating onions, carving a tooth out of soap, plunger etiquette, or the differences between boxers and briefs. One story, LinkedIn With Toothless Kenny tells the story of working one day at a state fair with a guy named Kenny (missing quite a few teeth) and the bond that did not develop. Another favorite, God Are You There? Its Me, Jason, tells the story of a dad dealing with the onslaught of questions from his ten-year-old daughter and her friend, who just had the puberty talk at school. You know, the talk where the boys go to play dodgeball in the gym and the girls are brought into a room and told all the deep secrets of girlhood. Here is an excerpt from God are you there? Its Me, Jason: I couldn't drive fast enough, fueled by ten-year-olds on some kind of puberty knowledge speed. Nothing applies indirect pressure to a gas pedal like, Why would you use a tampon. That's totally gross. Putting that there... Does mom use a tampon or a pad... can you brush pubic hair... What happens to boys... What's the white goop that comes out of them? Lila said. Has that happened to you? her best friend chimed in, suddenly drawing me into the vortex of the tornado minus the calm feeling. There. Down for the count. Officially speechless and unable to understand what just hit me. I have absolutely no responses for them, and I'm confident that I won't, even if they checked back in ten or twenty years. I had a vision of being stopped for speeding. If I were stopped I would ask the officer to come and sit in my car and have the girls talk their new talk. The officer would quickly get out and give me a siren and lights escort home. Other stories include, Blood Eye, The Bachelor, Doldrums and Blackheads, A Tale of Two Sons, Soap Tooth Fairy, The Snowmobile Rodeo, Plunger Etiquette, Past Me vs. Future Me, Boxers, Briefs or..., How to Spell Quantity and Other Curse Words, Poop: A Gateway Word, and More. The author, Jason A. Spafford, has been writing humor and studying the effects of saying funny things for a number of years. He has produced and directed a feature film, among other film and video work over the past twenty years, as well as writing scripts for TV and film. His other two works are books of poetry and, as one would expect, those are just not that funny. 210 pages (or as your Kindle will tell you - 100%)
