

Haiku Heaven in Panama: A 4th Grade Poetry Collection

Do you haiku? The world over people have pick up their pens (or laptops) and tried this form of fast food poetry. Descended from a Japanese tradition of 5-7-5 syllables per line, its a quick take on the world around you. Join my class of multicultural, bilingual 4th graders in Panama City, Panama, as they write about their lives in Panama (the place thats celebrating 100 year anniversary of the Panama Canal). From stinky boys to licking lollipops in summer, to flying in hot air balloons, this little book of poetry is priceless and written by kids for the kids in all of us, young and old alike. Its always hot in Panama and this book is hot too, destined to sell like hotcakes. Haiku to you!
