

Gears, Grins & Gasoline: My Wheel Life Adventures

The love of old cars provides many adventures for people in the hobby. As a child there were special cars that made a lasting impression. The best birthday is the one that allows the acquiring of a drivers license. The first car, like the first love, will never be forgotten. Repairing an old car and showing it off at the drive-in is a cherished right of automotive passage. Continuing through life with a collector car at your side is a match made in heaven. Lance Lambert, automotive journalist, TV personality and passionate car collector, shares some of his adventures from decades of holding the honored title of Car Guy. From his first car (a combination of his sisters tea set table and a broken wagon) to his current love of orphan cars (his garage menagerie includes two Studebakers and two King Midgets), Lance is a person living the life that all car lovers love. This book follows Lances best selling Fenders, Fins & Friends: Confessions of a Car Guy. His newest book, Gears, Grins & Gasoline: My Wheel Life Adventures, contain 59 short stories that will bring smiles and, if the reader is not careful, a tear or two. Included is the tale of 13 year-old Lance and a friend borrowing a car; dangerous chases and rumbles with rivals; mistakes made on motorcycles; teenage girls in great cars; automotive successes and failures, and even spending time with a 1955 Chevrolet-owning ghost. Its a great book about great cars and great people. Pour a coup of coffee and head to the garage, then sit back and enjoy the reading ride!
