

Since its original publication, God-The Worlds Future, has been widely and successfully as a comprehensive textbook in systematic theology explicitly crafted in light of the postmodern context. It explains the whole body of Christian historical doctrine from within a proleptic framework, whereby the gospel is understood as announcing the pre-actualization of the future consummation of all things in Jesus Christ. This concept is skillfully deployed not only to organize the various theological areas or loci but also to rethink doctrines in light of key postmodern challenges from ecumenism, critical historical thinking, contemporary science, and gender relations. In this edition, Peters has updated each chapter, made substantive changes in the books treatment of God and Christs offices, and elaborated his theology in light of developments in feminist and deconstructive theologies.
