

Live Happy (...damn it): A Journey of Acceptance and Abundance

Jennifer Cramer was elated when she graduated from college with a business degree in hand. She found an apartment in Seattle with her best friends, an internship at a respected PR firm, and a fun boyfriend. She could almost taste the promise of her future. Suddenly, her world turned upside down. Jennifer was diagnosed with an incurable autoimmune disease, her kidneys failed rapidly, and she plunged into the unfamiliar world of kidney transplantation. She navigated from a medical maze to a masters degree, from hair loss to humor and happiness, from uneventful dates to an unbelievable marriage and from the graces of an amazing mom to becoming a grateful mom. Jennifer faced a choice. Hope or despair? Live Happy (...damn it) is a book that will vitalize your optimism, and encourage you when you stumble and fall get back up. Let Jennifer's experiences inspire you to embrace every day...and choose hope.
