

Dissension in District Six (The District) (Volume 1)

Suffering from the Thirty Blues and two degrees later, Dakota feels she hasn't accomplished anything since her high school graduation in 2003. Feeling trapped in multiple dead end jobs, she risks it all and starts her own lobbying firm. Dakota craves politics, but has no desire for the spotlight. Behind the scenes manipulation and blackmail have always been her forte and she uses these skills to her advantage. Her Bachelor's degree didn't open doors, but friends from her old neighborhood could be the blessing in disguise she desires. Dakota starts her firm with good intentions while fueling her passion, but she will soon learn that nothing gets done unless you get your hands dirty. Decisions are made that could ruin her marriage, ignite old flames, and betray lifelong relationships. Will she be able to balance it all? Will she be able to keep the promises her clients? Or will she crumble under the pressure and risk losing her career or maybe her freedom? Dakota is a country girl from Northeastern North Carolina with a dream and few unsavory connections. She never thought she would have to compromise her integrity to make a difference, but she will do what it takes to be successful. Like most African-American millennials, she realizes that opportunity no longer knocks and the only path to success is kicking in the door. She refuses to wait for someone to drop crumbs when she can cook her own damn cookie. From dead end jobs to an entrepreneur, you will cheer for Dakota's success. Dissension in District Six will have you learning about the political process and waiting for the next twist. Politics will always make Strange Bedfellows, but Dakota will soon learn everyone isn't worth sleeping with.
