

Justice Must Prevail

Senator Bair is on a mission to hold accountable key members of the previous administration for violating the US Constitution, US laws and International treaties, and invading a sovereign nation without approval of the United Nations Security Council. With the Senators leadership a Special Counsel is approved to investigate the charges. An opposition group of retired CIA operatives is trying to stop the Special Counsel activity. On a private trip to Saudi Arabia the former President is arrested in Spain, and transferred to The Hague. Justice is on an international ride through Switzerland, Washington, England, Saudi Arabia, Spain, and the Netherlands until its final heart stopping conclusion.
