

Communities of Cultural Value: Reception Study, Political Differences, and Literary History

Philip Goldstein is fast establishing himself as the doyen of reception study, a discipline that assumes that the readers interpretive practices explain a texts import. In his latest work, Communities of Cultural Value, Goldstein delves again into the realm of literary criticism, painting an absorbing picture of the changing nature of a growing, more diversified readership and its challenge to professional literary study. Goldsteins PostMarxist approach investigates how interpretive communities govern the readers practices, through lucid case studies that analyze the reception of texts and authors ranging from Jane Austen to John Le CarrZ. Communities of Cultural Values is an important addition to the continuing debate over arts aesthetic autonomy and the role of literary criticism in the 1990s, and it will be most valuable to readers seeking to chart the changing socio-historical condition of literary study.
