

The Power of Masterminding

Would you like to discover how to apply the secret that great achievers such as Thomas Edison, Charles Wrigley and Bill Gates used to accomplish their success? Key reasons that people do not achieve their goals are because they don't stay focused on what they want and fail to collaborate effectively. You can't achieve major goals all on your own. You need to use the minds and resources of other people. The idea of self-made millionaires is a myth. Every great achiever, whether knowingly or not, has used an approach called Masterminding to get results. Masterminding is an advanced form of thinking and teamwork. It's about plugging your brain into the minds of others and benefiting from their ideas, experience and abilities. It's about a group of people working in harmony with each other to achieve individual or group objectives. In this book you will learn: - how to form and run your very own success team - the Masterminding mindset, skillset and process - how to accomplish your goals quickly and without stress or struggle - how to draw on your Masterminding team for a continual flow of groundbreaking ideas, energy, inspiration, feedback, contacts and resources, confidence, encouragement, challenge and accountability. Masterminding will revolutionise the way you work with other people and achieve results.
