

Trappers of New York: Or a Biography of Nicholas Stoner & Nathaniel Foster

Jephtha Boot SIMMS (1807 - 1883) was a historian, who lived in New York. . During a period of seven years he traveled constantly with his horse and carriage through the central counties of New York, interviewing the early settlers and old persons, and recording any data of interest thus collected. The first outcome of this labor was his History of Schoharie County and Border Wars of New York (Albany, N. Y., 1845), The American Spy, Nathan Hale, followed in 1846, and The Trappers of New York in 1850. The Frontiersmen of New York, two volumes , fell to a later date, having been published 1882-83. In addition to these more permanent works, he for a long time contributed, almost daily, articles on politics, the ethics of national government, sociological progress, and other topics of the hour to the Albany Argus, and to various papers throughout the slate. This book originally published by J. Munsell, in 1851 has been reformatted for the Kindle and may contain an occasional defect from the original publication or from the reformatting.
