

Death by Water: Phryne Fisher #15 (Phryne Fisher Mysteries)

The Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company has a problem: someone's been stealing jewelry from its first-class passengers. Fortunately, the elegant Phryne Fisher, doyenne of detectives Down Under, is uniquely positioned to mingle seamlessly with the upper classes in search of the culprit. And so, carrying the Great Queen of Sapphires, the Maharani, she boards the S.S. Hinemoa on a luxury cruise to New Zealand. Shipboard romance, champagne cocktails, hot jazz, erotic photography, jealous swains, Mickey Finns, blackmail and attempted murder all swirl about Phryne, and both the innocent and the guilty will discover that where the glamorous and intelligent Phryne is concerned, resistance is futile. Death by Water is the fifteenth in Kerry Greenwood's series of Phryne Fisher Mysteries. Phryne is an Agatha Christie for the noughties, living in 1920s Melbourne. Death by Water is all very whodunnit-polite [] it may even persuade you to hop aboard a cruise liner bound for icy shores. Sharon Fowler, The Australian
