

The Betrayed Disciple

Judas to Joseph of Arimathea:- Sir, Jesus has in him God as Father; Jesus has in him Man as Son; Jesus has in him Fire as his Ghost, both holy and earthly. I have in me his earthly Fire! Caipas to Judas:- I will proclaim to Israel that you sold your master for thirty coins. I will make the world believe that Judas betrayed his master for thirty silver coins. You are proud to have the money bag around your neck; The same money bag will be like a rope around your neck. Get away; Judas: John, listen to me - all these happened as per Gods plan

I will explain everything to you now, just listen. John: I am not ready to listen Go away; No one believes your story any more. The Betrayed Disciple is a play on the life of Judas Iscariot, based on some insightful clues from the passion narratives of the Bible, portraying him as the only elite disciple of Jesus Christ; misunderstood by his peers, maligned by the Jewish authorities and branded by Christians as a notorious traitor ever born! The play makes Judas a tragic hero who is being betrayed everyday by misreading his mission and relevance in the earthly ministry of Jesus.
